

MANHATTAN RUBBERS AS AVIATOR FLIES OVER CITY IN HIS BIG AIRSHIP

Frank Goodale Sails From Palisade Park to City Hall in Dirigible Balloon.

Frank Goodale, the aviator, gave Manhattan a severe neck strain this morning when he journeyed from Palisade Park in his bologna-shaped dirigible to City Hall Park and back again. Adam's apples popped over collar tops and women's hats almost fell backward from their wearers' heads as Gotham gazed upward at the air rider.

Goodale crossed from the Jersey shore near One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street and followed Riverside Drive at elevations varying from 600 to 1,000 feet to Seventy-second street. He then kept over Broadway until Twenty-third street was reached, when he veered to the eastward and continued south. The aviator's objective point seemed to be the towering Woolworth Building, and as he approached it the nose of the dirigible was poked downward, and then began a graceful circling of the skyscraper on a line with the fortieth story. His next circuit the Park Row Building, and then turned over to the World's emblematic dome. Directly over the dome, he hesitated for a few moments, waving his hand to the photographers as they industriously snapped his airy flight.

The aviator next crossed City Hall Park. It was rumored he would land and pay his respects to the Mayor, but he must have been informed the City's executive was not in, for with a wave of his hand, he continued on uptown on a course that took him over the North River at times. On the return trip he flew close to the tops of buildings, those on the down trip, and the thousands who gazed skyward could plainly hear the buzz of the motor and see the aviator as he circled the city's landmarks and manipulated the levers. At One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street he cut his course northwesterly across the river to Palisade Park.

POLICEMAN INDICTED FOR GEM THEFT GIVES UP.

Hyland Held in Default of Bail, but There is No Clue to Accused Farley.

John P. Hyland, one of the two policemen who were indicted by the Grand Jury yesterday for the theft of $1,400 worth of loose diamonds from John De Cock, a Fulton street jeweler, in the West Twentieth street police station on the night of Jan. 25 last, surrendered himself today to District Attorney Whitman.

Hyland was accompanied by his counsel, Jacob House of Grant & House, the usual police lawyers. Before Judge Rosinsky in General Sessions Mr. House entered a plea of not guilty and was given until Thursday next to make any motions he might deem necessary. Bail was fixed at $10,000. Hyland was unable to furnish this amount and was committed to the Tombs.

No clue has been found leading to the whereabouts of Policeman Edward Farley, who was indicted with Hyland and who is said to have fled the city after his expulsion from the force by Commissioner Waldo five weeks ago.

Army Transport Sailed From Ice.
WASHINGTON, June 28.—The army transport Sheridan, which has been drifting, caught in the ice off Alaska, the Pacific Ocean, has arrived safely at Nome. A message to that effect was received at the War Department today from Major-General Arthur Murray, aboard. The ship will remain at Nome until the Arctic sea has cleared of drift ice.

Resinol shampoos stop loss of hair

The soothing, healing, antiseptic balsam in Resinol soap sink right into the scalp, stop itching, and keep it free from dandruff, thus promoting scalp health and preventing loss of hair. Besides, Resinol Soap is free from alkali and other impurities present in ordinary soaps—even in most "kiss-soaps"—and so drying and destructive to the hair. In severe cases of dandruff, scalp-eruptions and falling hair, a little Resinol Ointment should be gently massaged into the scalp at night, followed by a Resinol shampoo in the morning.

Your druggist sells Resinol Soap (50c) and Resinol Ointment (50c) and (10c) and recommends them, not only for the care of the hair, but for all sorts of skin troubles, poor circulation, eczema, boils, burns, or poison ivy, eruptions, and itching piles. For free sample of each address Dept. 44, Resinol Chem. Co., Baltimore, Md.

Buy Soon or Be Sorry

An Acre of New York City for $1,000

$10 Down—$10 Monthly

$21,000 was the price which a New York speculator paid a few days ago for the corner of 238th Street and Broadway—nearly 14 miles from the City Hall and 45 minutes' ride by subway. A few years ago this same corner would not have brought $2,000.

To-day $1,000 is our price for an acre of New York City (15 lots)—even nearer City Hall than the $21,000 lot mentioned above. A few years from now some Doubting Thomases of New Yorkers who don't buy will be shedding tears at their lack of foresight. Where or when can you ever again buy Acre Plots in New York City for $1,000—less than $70 a lot. Five or ten years from now—when the subway to Staten Island is built—what will these Acre Plots be worth?

Our Acre Plots, which we now offer by easy payments, are on the Staten Island Rapid Transit line, running directly to the site just selected for the subway station at Arrietta Street, S. I., by the Public Service Commission and Board of Estimate.

The City can borrow 10% of its assessed valuation. It is estimated that the building of subways will increase the City's borrowing capacity far beyond the expenditure of the hundred million dollars that the City contributes to build them. This means an enhancement in real estate values of over a billion dollars. Are you going to put a little intelligent thought into the purchase of real estate and get your share in this billion dollars, or will you permit the opportunity to slide along and the other fellow to grab it? Accept our invitation—avail yourself of this chance—see and choose for yourself.

If an acre is beyond your means, $90 to $190 buys a Bungalow Plot, and $590 buys a Little Farm, beautifully improved.
